Readjustment Counseling Services

One fact of war is that in its aftermath, while Nations enjoy peace, some warriors experience psychological and social distress. Congress established the provision for readjustment counseling by the Department of Veterans Affairs in 1979, recognizing that a significant number of Vietnam era Veterans continued to experience readjustment problems. In 1991, Legislation extended eligibility for counseling to Combat Veterans of post-Vietnam era conflicts including the Persian Gulf, Panama, Grenada and Lebanon. Due to the success of Vet Centers in addressing the needs of Combat Veterans, the program was expanded to include those who served in Somalia, Korea, and World War II. In 2003, the program was further expanded to include those who served in operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Iraqi Freedom and subsequent operations with the Global War on Terrorism.

Vet Centers help veterans and their family members make a satisfying post-war readjustment to civilian life through a broad and successful range of counseling, outreach and referrals. Our services are provided free of charge.

Confidentiality

The information disclosed in counseling is held in the strictest confidence. Every effort is made by staff to ensure client's privacy rights are not violated. Information obtained in the counseling session cannot be released to any source unless written authorization is obtained from the veteran.

We are the people in VA who welcome home war veterans with honor by providing quality readjustment counseling in a caring manner. Vet Centers understand and appreciate Veterans' war experiences while assisting them and their family members toward a successful post-war adjustment in or near their community.
